Killed by an Indian on Account of Death in the Family.

PORTLAND, Ogn., March 25.—During the ceremonies of an Indian funeral on the bank of the Columbia river, opposite Umatilla, Wednesday, Bob, brother of the dead man, murdered Tom, an old medicine man. Tom had practiced medicine for some time, but about a year ago, when the medicine man at Warm Springs Reservation was killed because one of his patients died, old Tom retired from practice. He has since been looked upon by the Indians as a medicine man, and he has been causing their death, and he has been obliged to live alone on the Oregon side of the river, opposite the encampment of his tribe. Frank, the Indian whose funeral was being celebrated, had only been sick three days. His sudden death caused his brother Bob to think that old Tom had exerted his malign influence in the case, and while the funeral was in progress, Bob seized a Winchester rifle and shot old Tom through the heart. Bob is still in camp and has not been molested since the murder.

Carter Harrison Positively Withdraws from the Race for the Mayoralty.

Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—The difficulty between the different branches of labor employed in the handling of cotton, involving ten thousand men, has had the effect of paralyzing all work in the cotton trade. The difficulty dates back to last October, and is the outcome of the effort then made to reduce the charges on cotton at this point. At that time all the cotton-handlers, both white and colored, including employers, belonged to one union. The white men withdrew and formed a new union, excluding the employers. The colored men remained in the old organization. Yesterday the new organization determined not to handle any cotton which passed through the hands of the old organization. Yesterday morning all the presses where members of the old council were employed were stopped, as the weavers, samplers and classifiers refused to touch cotton not handled or drayed by members of the old organization. At other presses, where members of the new council were employed, work went on as usual, but the cotton could not be delivered on shipboard, inasmuch as it had to pass through the hands of the old council, and the screw-men, members of the new council, would not receive it from them. Serious trouble is feared.

CARTER HARRISON.

Again Refuses the Nomination for Mayor of Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Mayor Carter Harrison has again declined the Democratic nomination for Mayor of Chicago, and this time declares that his decision is final. He sent out a notice to the Democratic City Central Committee for a special meeting this afternoon, where he read a prepared letter outlining his purpose, and the reasons which actuated him to this course. He openly declares that he has been opposed by the representatives of the administration at Washington, that he has also been charged with treachery to political friends, and for these reasons he will not be a candidate. After declaring that he knows that the consequences of this action will forever bar him from future political honors, he adds that he must irrevocably withdraw his name from the head of the ticket. The Mayor says: "The conditions which have been placed upon the President of the United States have taken the public position that I should be defeated in the interests of the National Administration. The three newspapers which are the organs of the President in Chicago have attacked me violently since my nomination and urged my defeat. This convinces me that the President of the United States does not desire me to be elected. I therefore respectfully suggest that you call into consultation with you the gentlemen who are known to be the advisers here of the federal administration and nominate a ticket which will command their support."

SHARP'S REFUSAL.

To Issue a Patent for Land to the S. P. Co.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Commissioner Sharp has to-day written a letter to the attorney of the Southern Pacific railroad in reply to a request that a patent be issued for lands on list No. 4, selected by the company, as contemplated by the secretary's letter of September 30, 1886. The Commissioner says the Secretary refused to direct the certification of the lands for the reason that measures looking to the forfeiture of the grant were pending in Congress. The Commissioner says the bill referred to was favorably reported by a very large majority of the House Committee on Public Lands, but was not renewed for consideration by Congress. There has, therefore, been no opportunity for a positive expression of the legislative will. For this reason he declines to take steps looking to the issuance of the patent, and thereby defeat the full and free exercise of the Fiftieth Congress of its will.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

A Review of the Day's Transactions.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The stock market started this morning at a good pace, business being active and prices strong, but there was a liberal realization at an advance by cliques, and the improvement, except in a few specialties, was confined to fractions only. There was considerable business in truck lines, which was in part to the withdrawal of the Grand Trunk from the Central Traffic Association. A slight dip in Canada Southern occurred at 2 p. m., to which the general market responded feebly, but the close was dull and weak, generally near the lowest prices of the day. The general market was irregular, changes this evening, chiefly for small fractions only.

Government Bonds were dull and steady to-day. Petroleum was dull to-day.

NEW YORK, March 25.—K. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly trade review say: "The market is close and hard and there is some anxiety as to the money market, as usual at this season. Bankers have been selling large amounts to the interior through deposits at the Treasury, and the advance of the Treasury has taken in $1,700,000 more gold than it has paid out during the past week, but has added $5,000,000 to outstanding silver certificates, and put out some gold notes also. The reduction of rates by the Bank of England, and the advance of money there, favor continued ease in this market. Foreign trade exports from New York, for the three weeks, are 18 per cent. larger than last year, with imports 7 1/2 per cent. larger. The February office report shows an increase of $2,800,000 in export over last year, and a decrease of $1,000,000 in imports; but the imports were the largest on record for many years in February, and the cause of $1,000,000 of gold exports for the month exceeded imports by $1,333,786. Railroad business has been large.

A SHOOTING MATCH.

Two men engaged in a battle on Upper Main Street.

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock two men ran down Upper Main street, and when they reached the City Warehouse the foremost, who was a Mexican, turned around the corner, which is of brick, and pulling a revolver fired at the man who was pursuing him, who is said to have been Wm. Abbott. The latter was in the middle of the street and exposed to great danger. He pulled a revolver, and for a few moments matters were quite lively. The people who had been attracted to that neighborhood by the chase scattered and dodged into the doorways, out of harm's way. They were too anxious to escape to pay attention to the shooters. Six shots alone together were fired, and Abbott was seen to shiver as if wounded. After the six shots had been fired the shooters turned and ran in opposite directions, Abbott running through the Chinese restaurant through a vacant lot. By the time the officers arrived they could not be found, and although the officers searched the haunts of Abbott he could not be found, nor would any of the girls with whom he associates tell anything about him. If he was hurt, as was surmised, he will be found sooner or later.

A call for wild flowers for the festival is made by the society. Will the children, or other interested parties, gather all they can and send them, when perfectly fresh, to Mrs. C. E. Day, 121 Court street, Los Angeles, to be presented. It would be better still if some of the children would press the flowers with great care, and then send them in good shape to the above address, mounted, or in time to be mounted for the Society's booth at the festival.

Monsieur Tenson Come Again.

The United States, like older nations, has its dreary, haunting frauds. The comedy of Moliere and of other witty Frenchmen is pervaded by creatures of the Tartuffe breed. In this country John Sherman is unquestionably chief of this malignant tribe. He towers up so high above all others that his bad pre-eminence is like the Tower of Babel as outlined against the wick-up of an Apache roustabout.

When the insinuating Sherman, of the White Sepulchre breed, started out on his campaign in the South, he exhibited a degree of wisdom which is creditable to his cold and calculating intelligence. With great shrewdness he said he would not talk politics while in Florida, or, indeed, until he had struck Nashville on his return. As a matter of fact, he drew this line at Birmingham. In this selection of the localities at which he might talk politics he was doubtless influenced by an honest desire to get as far away as he could from Florida and Louisiana, the theaters of the monumental Republican frauds which endowed the long suffering people of the United States with one Rutherford B. alias Lucy Hayes for President.

Therefore, in the history of this country, there had doubtless been found many women who would consent to be the beneficiary in a scheme of fraud—in the ethics of the weaker sex the adage that all is fair in love and in politics might have placed without any great derangement of the human diaphragm—but Hayes remained the one man who would stoop to pluck an honor undeserved, and not consciously accorded to him by the people. John Sherman was the John the Baptist to this new political Apocalypse. He was the cold and calculating Mephistopheles of the political grand scene in the Presidential "set" of 1876. He was particeps criminis, from first to last, with the miserable low comedy through the agency of which a tribune of the people, in the person of Samuel J. Tilden, was cheated out of his rights.

And this is the person, all forlorn and destitute of any element of either personal or political dignity, who presumes to play leader to the Southern people, God save the mark! In his own person, in addition to his Louisiana deeds of turpitude, he has been the most conspicuous exemplar of treachery to the masses. It is John Sherman who trod fast upon the heels of George H. Pendleton in greenback theories which were carried to the line of vagary; and it was John Sherman who afterwards approved himself to be the superserviceable tool of the national banks. It was said of this same John Sherman years ago that he could imbibe hot tea and distill icicles. Certainly the Democratic party can wish for no greater luck than would be the nomination of this cross between Moliere's Tartuffe and Charles Dickens's Chadband.

The Festive Vacuero.

We commend to the gentlemen who are on the bond of the insouciant vacuero from San Fernando, which his other name is Eli Hammond, the touching strains of the melody which runs, "The flowers that bloom in the Spring, tra-la." Doubtless this interesting gentleman, who has vanquished the country with at least sixteen thousand dollars of the people's money in his saddle-bags, proposes to see the delicious posies of British Columbia take on their spring dress. The daisies and the pansies and the other perennial products of that northern land will doubtless for him take on hues of their wanted splendor, in his progress towards that haven of all thieves, Canada. Still we are not sure that our prevision as to his movements is, after all, correct. The ample lands of the Montezumas spread out without limit to the south; and perhaps, from some jungle compassed by cactus and the maguay plant, the furtive eyes of the festive vacuero may look out on a possible pursuer. If he southward has taken his flight he may investigate at his leisure the growing glories of the Bay of Ensenada; and, as he pursues his devious courses towards Cape St. Lucas, he may look upon the short-lived attractions of the Magdalena Bay colony to which Ben Butler loaned the evanescent graces of his strabismic countenance. But in whatever direction this defaulting Republican official wends his way we congratulate his bondsmen on the fact that they are so numerous. Divided pecuniary responsibility is a pleasant thing in this work-a-day world, where men often encounter a difficulty in turning the nimble dollar. The list of these gentlemen is long, and its great length indicates a sort of sagacious appreciation of the responsibility and reliability of the vanished defaulter. Each of these guarantors of the roving Republican County Tax Collector will felicitate himself forever and aye upon his confidence in Eli Hammond having been of such a fractional and hesitating description. Upon the whole, we are in grave doubts as to whether, in the case of San Fernando's favorite son, we are warranted in indulging in the Shakespearean philosophy, "We could better spare a better man." With all his charming graces of person and manner we are tempted to indulge in the refrain, "I told you so," and to recur to the time when the defaulting vacuero cheated the county out of fully fifteen hundred dollars in the publication of a certain delinquent tax list. The melancholy forebodings in which we then indulged have, alas! been too fully confirmed. Let us piously hope that the sixteen thousand dollars of Hammond's delinquencies, as at present ascertained, may not, to the disgruntlement of his bondsmen, be indefinitely expanded.

PERHAPS the most interesting feature in the phenomenal development of Southern California which is now being witnessed is the drawing together of the counties which compose that imperial region in a close bond of fellowship and good will, prefiguring the evolution of a State of South California, in time. For years the Herald has maintained that the ungainly length and divergent interests of California as at present constituted called at an early day for division. Taking the line of this State diagonally from Yuma to the coast at the Oregon line, and it presents a most unsymmetrical and inadmissible conformation. The State is entirely too long for its breadth; and, notwithstanding the effort to create artificial citrus belts in the central and northern portions of California, there is nothing in common between the northern and southern portions of the Commonwealth. The time is at hand when these questions will assume a vital shape, and when agitation for a division of the Golden State will be exigent and successful. When that time comes it will be found that Tulare and Fresno counties will gladly cast in their lot with San Diego, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Kern and Los Angeles counties. The destiny of a State so constituted could not fail to be exceptionally brilliant. It would equal or eclipse anything ever recorded of the countries of Southern Europe, and it would be crowned with the aureola of American progress and enterprise.

It is said that Eli Hammond, the defaulting Tax Collector of Los Angeles county, never filed his certificate of election with the County Clerk. What effect this may have upon the responsibility of his bondsmen we are not prepared at this stage to say. It is just possible that County Clerk Dunsmore was so busily engaged in electing Brierly, himself and the other Republican county officials that he overlooked little circumstances of this character. If this fact be true, it appears that Mr. Dunsmore was very punctilious about the technical details of his office when Democratic voters could be disfranchised but very indigent as to minutiae and detail when it came to protecting the interests of the taxpayers.
